

Let's Get Acquainted —

by Ruby M. Compton

Donald Charles Haury was born Feb. 2, 1958, in Evansville, Indiana, near the Ohio River in the Southwestern part of the state, and not far from the Wabash River. Across the Ohio lies Kentucky. Don was the third of four children born to Charles Fredrick and Maxine Louise Gremmelle Haury. Don's father was a pressman for the Evansville Curier and Press, and his mother, Maxine, still is a licensed practical nurse.

All of Don's schooling was in Evansville. He graduated from high school in 1976. While in high school, he was a National Honor Society member. His main interests were art and geographic arts. He has made use of these skills in the work he has done. He does his own silkscreening and designs. He has t-shirts on exhibit in his shop.

After graduation, Don decided he wanted to learn all he could about boats and to eventually sail around the world, but he couldn't find work there and came home.

His brother, Terry, was working on the oil rigs in Wyoming and he wrote Don that the work was profitable and he could get a good start if he were to come West.

Don worked on the oil rigs near Thermopolis, Wyoming for three years before the company decided to move to the Evanston, Wyoming and Northern Utah areas. The next 2½ years were spent in the areas around Evanston and the following 2½ years Don worked as a driller in Chalk Creek, above Coalville, Utah.

These five years of work in Evanston and Chalk Creek went quickly, and Don Haury lived in Heber Valley.

Don said that he came into Heber at night, in May of 1980, and it wasn't until the next morning that he actually saw the town and valley. He said it was so beautiful he wanted to stay and make his home here as long as he possibly could.

Don's wife, Teresa Jensen Haury, was born on June 8, 1957 in Albuquerque, New Mexico, the third of three girls born to Howard Neil and Marva Wooley Jensen. Her father was a geologist, basically working in Utah and New Mexico areas as Senior Geologist for Continental C. Her mother is basically a cosmetologist now living in South California.

When Teresa was sixteen, she left Albuquerque and went to California to live with her mother. She graduated from Silverado High School in El Toro, California, in 1975. She worked at various jobs until she and her mother went to visit her sister who lived in Thermopolis, Wyoming where she met Don Haury. The following summer in 1980, she returned to stay with her sister and husband Julie and Jim Kilmartin. She was there one week when Jim's rig was moved to Evanston and the Kilmartin's moved to Heber City, Utah. Teresa came with them. Don came shortly after, and they dated until they were married on July 20, 1982. The ceremony took place at the J.B. Ranch in Midway.

Don bought a house in Lake Creek, Utah from Brent Lewis and later sold it to Tom Brandener. Their first child, Jessica Lynn Haury was born in Wasatch County Hospital on June 17, 1983. They are expecting another child in May of 1985.

About two years ago, work dropped off and Don started a chimney sweep business here in Heber.

Later, when Ron Burns Packaway Foods was revised, Don and Teresa Haury bought the woodburning stove business and the use of the front area of the shop and opened their own business. Ron Burns kept the back part of the shop for his Packaway Foods.

Haury's Wood Stove Center and Don's Chimney Sweep is at 14 South Main, Heber, Utah 84032. Phone 654-4673. The business is insured, clean and licensed.

secretary for Ron Burns and she stayed on in that position for the Haury's.

While I was interviewing the Haury's, there was quite a steady flow of customers and I liked the easy, business-like way the conversation was exchanged. I had the feeling that this energetic, friendly couple would succeed.

Both Don and Teresa expressed their liking of the people and the beauty of this area and hope to be able to live here.

We wish them well in their business and friendships.

Many Federal Tax Refunds Undelivered

More than 500 Utah individuals have Federal tax refund checks waiting to be claimed, according to Carol M. Fay, Salt Lake City District Director for the IRS. The undelivered refunds total $183,110 and average $338.

"Many of these checks remain undelivered because taxpayers have moved and left no forwarding address with the U.S. Postal Service," the state IRS Director said.

Taxpayers who filed on time and still have not received their 1983 tax refunds should check with the IRS as soon as possible, because refund delays can also be caused by lost or stolen checks.

"If this is the case," Mrs. Fay stated, "we can put tracers on the missing checks."

Other refund delays are caused by errors or omissions on the tax return, such as illegible names or addresses.

Taxpayers living in the Salt Lake City telephone dialing area should call 524-4060 if their name appears on the list below or if they haven't received their refund. Those living outside this area can use the toll-free number 1-800-424-1040.

"In all refund inquiries," the Salt Lake City District Director said, "taxpayers should provide the names and addresses as they appear on the return, the actual names and addresses if different, the social security numbers, and the type of forms filed."

Under most circumstances, an undelivered check can be reissued to the new address and received within two weeks, according to Director Fay.

Following is a list of individuals who have refund checks being held by the Internal Revenue Service:

HEBER CITY: Zip Code-84032; Danny L. and Roberta E. Baker; Charles T. Cullimore; Jerry R. and Charlotte A. Davis; Kelly E. Kleese; Jeff I. Lattin.

WILLIAM AND ANNIE COLEMAN McMILLAN

William McMillan was born on December 9, 1849, at Liverpool, Lancashire, England. He was one of four children—Ephraim, Phoebe, Mary Ellen and William—born to Daniel and Jennet Davis McMillan. His education was obtained in Liverpool schools, where he became an exceptional speller and penman.

From 1858 to 1865 he was employed in the "Millennial Star" office, a paper published at Liverpool in the interests of the Church.

With the promise of George Q. Cannon, president of the European Mission, to take care of William and Ephraim, William's parents and two sisters came from England to Utah in 1863. It wasn't until two years later that William and Ephraim came to the United States and drove two yoke of oxen across the plains. The boys traveled with a company. On reaching Utah, William helped his father in the blacksmith shop. He also fought in the Blackhawk War in 1865 as a volunteer member. While still a young man, he formed the first library in Heber City.

On November 15, 1875, he married Margaret Clotworthy of Heber, a sister of Tom Clotworthy, but on January 1, 1879, she died at the birth of her third child, Margaret. Jean and Hugh were the other two children.

On November 25, 1880, he married Annie Coleman in the Endowment House at Salt Lake City. Although Annie Coleman lived in Salt Lake at the time of her marriage, she was born in England. Five girls and four boys were born to them.

After William McMillan moved to Heber City, he worked in the LDS Church a great deal and was superintendent of the Sunday School 18 years. During this time he was also president of the YMMIA and president of the ward teachers.

The fact that he was called all over the county to administer to the sick showed he had the faith of the people.

He worked all day long in his blacksmith shop and sometimes stayed very late to finish work that he had to do. Not only did he stay up for his own work, but would also administer to the sick or go with Bishop Duke to visit the poor. Though he did work hard and served his customers well, his ledger is still full of unpaid accounts. These long hours and excessive use of the left arm caused a wasting of the muscles. It never entered into his mind that he should use a little judgment concerning how much his body could stand. After he had had trouble for two years with his arm, the doctor told him to take a much-needed rest.

George Reynolds, general superintendent of Sunday Schools, happened to be in Heber for conference at this time. Since he had known William McMillan from childhood in Liverpool, Mr. Reynolds suggested that a mission would give him an excellent rest from the tiring job of a blacksmith.

On August 11, 1896, he was called on a mission to Scotland, leaving his wife with eight children. Carl, the youngest, was born two months after William had left. While on his mission he kept a diary. In looking over his diary it was found that he fasted and prayed a great many times. He kept his fasting from one day to eighty-eight hours, only lacking eight hours of being four days. During his fasts he asked the Lord to please heal him of the wasting disease he was afflicted with, so that he might finish his mission. He wrote to President Snow to ask him to please offer a prayer for him, even though he had the prayers of the Elders in the field.

While laboring in the mission field he spent six weeks in the hospital. Although many doctors worked with him every morning, they had no encouragement to offer him.

He was gone 22 months, and during his last year he presided over the Scottish Mission. He returned home after he received his honorable release from the president of the European Mission, Rulon S. Wells.

On his return home he was elected county treasurer of Wasatch County, serving nearly six years. He died March 18, 1904, leaving one year of his treasurer's term unfulfilled. However, his eldest daughter, Elizabeth, completed the term.

Annie Coleman was born May 17, 1859, in Hemel Hempstead, Hertfordshire, England, the eleventh and youngest child of George and Elizabeth Baily Coleman. Her parents joined the LDS Church in 1844, emigrating with their family in 1864, when Annie was five. Two sisters, Sarah and Elizabeth, and a brother, Samuel, also made the trip in the sailing vessel "Hudson."

The family first settled in Midway, with a brother, Henry Coleman, and later homesteaded a farm in Holladay, Salt Lake County. Annie remained in Salt Lake 17 years, until her marriage to William in 1880.

When William was called to the mission field in Great Britain, Annie remained at home caring for her five daughters and four sons. She operated a small grocery store and farm to provide a living for the family.

While her husband was in the mission field he presided over the Scottish district and labored with a young missionary, Elder David O. McKay, who later became president of the LDS Church.

When Annie's mother died, in 1887, she cared for her father, and also took care of her father-in-law several years prior to his death. She reared a step-daughter for 16 years and took care of an invalid brother, Samuel, for 60 years, until his death.

Her children include Mrs. Theodore (Elizabeth) Jasperson, Mrs. George (Annie) Fisher, Mrs. H. R. (Nora) Read, Mrs. Walter (Phyllis) O'Toole, Vilate McMillan, and William, Daniel, George and Carroll McMillan.

Annie died at her home, November 6, 1939, and services were held in Wasatch Tabernacle.
